Note. Tables on this page show data for the bachelor's degree seeking cohort for four-year institutions and the degree/certificate seeking cohort for two-year institutions. Rates represent the percentage of the cohort who received an award from the same institution where they started as full-time, first-time freshmen. Institutions are not required to report transfer data unless their mission includes providing substantial preparation for students to enroll in another eligible institution without having completed a program. If half or more of a Nebraska institution's peers did not report transfer data, the peer median is not reported. Source: Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System.
