Dr. Jeffrey Gold, Executive Vice President and Provost University of Nebraska 3835 Holdrege Street Lincoln, NE 68583-0745

Dear Dr. Gold,

I am forwarding materials related to a proposal to create a new undergraduate certificate in Social Entrepreneurship to be administered by the School of Global Integrative Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences. The certificate program is built on cross-college collaborations and leverages existing curriculum in six colleges.

This proposed program has the full endorsement of the Academic Planning Committee, the Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Arts and Sciences curriculum committee, the departments and colleges contributing to the program, and it has my approval. I am requesting you approve it and that it be reported to the Board of Regents at an upcoming meeting.

Sincerely,

Roden D. Bug

Dear Chancellor Bennett:

The Academic Planning Committee (APC) considered a proposal to create the Social Entrepreneurship Undergraduate Certificate. The program will be administered by the School of Global Integrative Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences. The APC voted to recommend approval of the proposal at its September 6, 2023, meeting and I am forwarding this proposal for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Walt Charl

SUBJECT: New Undergraduate Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship

Attached please find a proposal to create a new Undergraduate Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship to be administered by the School of Global Integrative Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences. The certificate program is built on cross-college collaborations and leverages existing curriculum in six colleges.

The program is designed to provide a credential that will be recognized in the workforce, especially within nonprofit and civic organizations, governmental agencies, and an increasing number of for-profit corporations who have placed a focus on social responsibility. Experiental learning is a core feature of the program. This new certificate program has the full support of the CAS curriculum committee and Dean Mark Button, as well as, the support of departments and colleges who are contributing to the program of study.

The proposals for undergraduate certificate programs were on hold in the EVC Office while the infrastructure was completed to support the recruitment, admission, matriculation, and certificate completion in a non-manual process for both degree-seeking and non-degree seeking students. The academic systems project was prioritized during 2022-23 and completed in late spring. I am optimistic about new certificate programs and look forward to how they can support the university's enrollment goals.

I fully support this proposal.

Subject: Creation of Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship

Please find attached the proposal for a Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship in the College of Arts and Sciences. This certificate is the result of productive collaborations across six colleges at UNL (CAS, CASNR, Architecture, CJMC, COB, and CEHS). By leveraging our shared strengths and faculty expertise across UNL, we will provide students with a new unique certificate option focused on developing the skills and hands-on experiences necessary to make a positive social impact in the world.

In a rapidly globalizing world, organizations focused on making a social impact play an important role in helping meet the challenges faced by our communities. Nonprofit and civic organizations, governmental agencies, and an increasing number of for-profit corporations have placed social responsibility at their core, making it a rewarding career choice for students with a wide range of academic backgrounds and life experiences. The Undergraduate Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship will provide students with a professional credential that will help them rise to the top of applicant pools in this exciting and growing sector. This eighteen-hour certificate, administered and supervised by the School of Global Integrative Studies (SGIS), provides students with a solid foundation for pursuing a career in the social good, both domestically and abroad. The focus on the global aspects of this certification is especially important as we look to a future that will continue to be defined by globalization and collaboration across cultural, social, linguistic, political, and physical borders.

There is growing demand, both locally and globally, for social entrepreneurship and innovation-oriented education and training of the workforce. In Nebraska there are close to 10,000 nonprofit organizations, with Lancaster County being home to over 3,000 of them. The nonprofit sector is the third largest industry in the state, bringing in over $3 billion in income each year. In Lincoln alone, there are over 500 nonprofit organizations. Meanwhile, across the United States, 1.6 million nonprofit organizations engage in social impact work, contributing an estimated $985 billion to the US economy. In addition to the rapidly growing nonprofit sector, there is a rapidly growing group of for-profit businesses with socially-minded missions. Together, these organizations constitute a powerful economic force and resonate broadly with today's students and recent graduates. As the social entrepreneurship sector continues to grow across the country and around the globe, this certificate will allow UNL students to secure jobs locally, nationally, and globally and become leaders in this emerging sector. Our certificate will help prepare students to tackle today's most pressing challenge in a variety of fields including health care, public health, education, law, human rights, environmental protection, and business just to name a few.

This certificate provides students with the skills they need to be leaders in the social entrepreneurship sector and to evaluate their own strengths and opportunities. All students will take two required courses: (1) GIST 201: Social Entrepreneurship and Innovation (3 credits); and (2) GLST/HRHA 415: Grant Writing and Fundraising for Social Impact (3 credits). In addition, all students will take one skill-based course (3 credits) and enroll in two additional courses (6 credits total) from one of the three subject specializations, including: Human Rights and Community Changemaking; Environment and Society; and Education and Human Services in a Diverse Community. Finally, all students will take a capstone course, HRHA 495: Experiential Learning in Human Rights.

Throughout their training in the certificate program, the students will make a tangible impact on our community through experiential learning opportunities and get a head start on making their mark. This certificate will formalize much of the work that many of our students already do through civic engagement, volunteerism, community service, or fundraising efforts. Both the students and the community will experience the long-term benefits of this program.

This proposal was approved in the School of Global Integrative Studies prior to submission to the College of Arts and Sciences for approval. The CAS Curriculum and Advising Committee met on February 3, 2022, and unanimously approved this proposal. This was presented for approval to the college faculty at our regularly scheduled spring faculty meeting on May 3, 2022, and received unanimous approval.

I strongly support this proposal and believe that it will provide students with a professional credential that will help them rise to the top of applicant pools in this exciting and growing sector.

Purpose of the Proposed Undergraduate Certificate:

In a rapidly globalizing world, organizations focused on making a social impact play an important role in helping meet the challenges faced by our communities. Nonprofit and civic organizations, governmental agencies, and an increasing number of for-profit corporations have placed social responsibility at their core, making it a rewarding career choice for students with a wide range of academic backgrounds and life experiences. This Undergraduate Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship is built on cross-college collaborations and will provide students with a professional credential that will help them rise to the top of applicant pools in this exciting and growing sector. This 17-19 credit-hour certificate, administered and supervised by the School of Global Integrative Studies (SGIS), provides students with a solid foundation for pursuing a career in the social good, both domestically and abroad. The focus on the global aspects of this certification is especially important as we look to a future that will continue to be defined by globalization and collaboration across cultural, social, linguistic, political, and physical borders.

There is growing demand, both locally and globally, for social entrepreneurship and innovation-oriented education and training of the workforce. In Nebraska there are close to 10,000 nonprofit organizations, with Lancaster County being home to over 3,000 of them. The nonprofit sector is the third largest industry in the state, bringing in over $3 billion in income each year. In Lincoln alone, there are over 500 nonprofit organizations. Meanwhile, across the United States, 1.6 million nonprofit organizations engage in social impact work, contributing an estimated $985 billion to the US economy. In addition to the rapidly growing nonprofit sector, there is a rapidly growing group of for-profit businesses with socially-minded missions. Together, these organizations constitute a powerful economic force and resonate broadly with today's students and recent graduates. As the social entrepreneurship sector continues to grow across the country and around the globe, this certificate will allow UNL students to secure jobs locally, nationally, and globally and become leaders in this emerging sector. The certificate will help prepare students to tackle today's most pressing challenge in a variety of fields including health care, public health, education, law, human rights, environmental protection, and business just to name a few.

This certificate provides students with the skills they need to be leaders in the social entrepreneurship sector and to evaluate their own strengths and opportunities. All students will take two required courses: (1) GIST 211: Social Entrepreneurship and Innovation (3 credits); and (2) GLST 415: Grant Writing and Fundraising for Social Impact (3 credits). In addition, all students will take one skill-based course (3 credits) and enroll in two additional courses (6 credits total) from one of the three subject themes, including: Human Rights and Community Changemaking; Environment and Society; and Education and Human Services in a Diverse Community. These subject themes allow students to develop greater depth of knowledge and skills in these thematic areas while keeping the program of study at 17-19 credit hours. Finally, all students will take a capstone course, HRHA 495: Experiential Learning in Human Rights.

Throughout their training in the certificate program, students will make a tangible impact on our community through experiential learning opportunities and get a head start on making their mark. This certificate will formalize much of the work that many of our students already do through civic engagement, volunteerism, community service, or fundraising efforts. Both the students and the community will experience the long-term benefits of this program.

Description of the Proposed Undergraduate Certificate:

Learning Objectives:

 Provide students with the social entrepreneurship training they need to step into active roles within an organization. The certificate is designed to prepare students to lead and function within social entrepreneurship organizations and build a thriving organizational culture. 2. Students will learn to think critically and act strategically and ethically to serve mission-driven organizations focused on the social good and building a sustainable and innovative future.

Admission Criteria: Degree-seeking and non-degree seeking students will be able to earn the certificate. Non-degree seeking students must have completed at least an Associates Degree. Students currently enrolled at a sister campus (UNO, UNK or UNMC) are also eligible to earn the certificate.

Admission Processes: Students with a college-level GPA of 2.0 will fill out a formal application which will then be reviewed by the Certificate Coordinator and the Social Entrepreneurship Certificate Advisory Board composed of faculty and local social entrepreneurship professionals.

Courses, Credit Hours and Academic Requirements

Table 1, below, lists the required and elective courses in the certificate program. Students must earn a C or higher, or a grade of P on classes with a P/NP option, for the course credit to count toward the certificate. Students may not take any of the required courses as P/NP and only 3 elective P/NP credits may be counted for the certificate. At least 10 credit hours must be at the 300-level or above.

How and when advisors are assigned for students in the certificate program?

The Certificate Coordinator (a faculty member in SGIS) will serve as the primary advisor for the certificate. The Certificate Coordinator will manage admission, course scheduling, and general advising in consultation with the academic advising teams in the participating colleges. In addition, the Certificate Coordinator will assist current UNL students in adding the certificate to their program of study and assist non-UNL students in adding the certificate as part of their general admission for non-degree students. The Certificate Coordinator will be supervised by the Director of SGIS and will actively work with the nonprofit community in Lincoln and around the state, as well as partner with other organizations, to establish working MOUs for applied practicum experiences.

Identify the primary contact (person and/or office) who can answer questions about the certificate (regarding requirements, substitutions, scheduling of courses, etc.). Primary Contact: Emira Ibrahimpasic, Associate Professor of Practice and Assistant Director, Global Studies, School of Global Integrative Studies

What are the measures and procedures for verification of completion of the certificate requirements? The School of Global Integrative Studies Executive and Curriculum Committees, as well as the Social Entrepreneurship Certificate Advisory Board, composed of faculty and local social impact professionals, will provide yearly evaluations of the certificate program.

What are the measures and procedures for ongoing evaluation of the certificate program? The Certificate Coordinator will continually track student progress and will have annual meetings with all enrolled students. The Certificate Coordinator also will serve as the facilitator for all matters related to the certificate program.

What is the Impact on Course Subject Codes; Will any subject codes need to be created, modified, or deleted in relation to the creation of this certificate program? No new codes will be created.

Costs of Operating the Proposed Certificate Program: Based on enrollment, the certificate program will benefit from the hiring of an experienced long-term lecturer or Professor of Practice (anticipated in Year Four). The individual hired will teach the core certificate courses, the capstone, and serve as the coordinator and advisor for the program. Until a permanent faculty position can be filled, the Dean's Office will fund the hiring of a temporary lecturer from private support and Dr. Emira Ibrahimpasic will take on the certificate coordinator responsibilities.

III. Review Criteria

A. Centrality to UNL Role and Mission

This certificate program is directly aligned with the University's role and mission to serve as the state of Nebraska by providing leadership through quality education and the generation of new knowledge. By facilitating the development of transferable skills in social entrepreneurship, this certificate program will provide another opportunity for the University to contribute to the economic and cultural development of the entire state. Given its focus on applied social impact for the public good, this certificate program will also help the University achieve the goal of having every student at UNL with a documented experiential learning experience. Through the thoughtful design of the curriculum and the focus on experiential learning and public service, the Social Entrepreneurship Certificate will advance the four core aspirations of the N150 Commission and the university's path over the next 25 years: Nebraska students co-create their experience; Our research and creativity transforms live and learning; Every person and every interaction matters; and Engagement builds communities.

B. Relationship of the proposal to the NU 5-year strategy

This certificate program will enhance the NU five-year strategy focused on access, affordability, and attainment. As an 17-19-credit hour program offers students cross-college opportunities, this will be an accessible and affordable credential in the rapidly growing sector of social entrepreneurship. Given the growing list of workforce needs in the state, as well as the need for innovative solutions to a wide-range of human and environmental challenges, this unique collaboration of six colleges at UNL will enable the university to lead in the area of workforce development. By leveraging the unique strengths that exist within the colleges of UNL, we expect this certificate program to have a practical impact in some of the key areas identified within the NU five-year strategy, such as water and food security; infectious disease; rural community vitality; and early childhood education.

C. Consistency with the Comprehensive Statewide Plan for Post-Secondary Education

This certificate program is consistent with the Comprehensive Statewide Plan for Post-Secondary Education because it is responsive to changing academic, workforce, societal, and community development needs. The state of Nebraska, like the rest of the US and the world, is beset by a range of "wicked problems" that demand innovative solutions that neither the state nor the market alone can supply. This program will harness and cultivate the ingenuity and creativity of student-scholars to serve as agents of positive change in their communities. A flexible certificate option is also student-centered and will help serve the citizens of the state. The unique design of this program – drawing on the expertise and unique strengths of six academic colleges – embodies the shared values and beliefs of the Coordinating Commission that "the state benefits when Nebraska institutions focus resources on unique areas of excellence in which they can bring major benefits to the state and to students." As a professional certificate program that is open to diverse, non-degree seeking members of the public, this program will contribute to a competent and competitive workforce for our state, facilitate lifelong learning and training opportunities for our citizens, and promote an innovative and entrepreneurial culture that rises to the challenges of globalization.

D. Evidence of Need and Demand

1. Need:

As noted above, the non-profit sector is one of the fastest growing industries in the United States, with over 1.6 million organizations contributing an estimated $985 billion to the US economy. According to the Washington Post,<sup>1</sup> the non-profit sector is the second-largest employment sector in the country (second only to the for-profit sector). Throughout the state of Nebraska, 98,000 workers are employed in the non-profit sector. This includes ten percent of Lancaster County's workforce and closer to 13 percent of the workforce in, among others, Jefferson, Adams and Blaine counties.

In addition to the rapidly growing nonprofit sector, for-profit entities, ranging from the footwear company TOMS to tech start-ups like Career Karma, are embracing social entrepreneurship with vigor. At the same time, consumers increasingly demand that the products and services they buy are ethically sourced and produced. With social entrepreneurship reshaping significant portions of the economy in both the for-profit and non-profit sectors, there is an increased need for employees who can tackle the world's most pressing problems across a range of fields, from public health to law, and education to environmental protection.

This need for creative problem-solvers is even more acute given the "Great Resignation" that has resulted from the Covid-19 pandemic. According to the 2023 National Council of Nonprofits 2023 workforce survey,<sup>2</sup> nearly 75% of non-profits have vacancies, creating challenges for their surrounding communities. The demand for non-profit workers is high and the Social Entrepreneurship Certificate will help students acquire the competencies that the world needs today.

2. Demand:

As the non-profit sector grows, so too does consumer and voter demand for the corporations, organizations, and public authors to engage with the social good. In July 2022, Forbes reported on a study that found that 90 percent of consumers would switch brand allegiance because of their interest in the social good, while also noting that a growing number of corporations have undergone complete overhauls in order to receive a B-Corp rating, indicating their adherence to shared social good standards. Moreover, positions like "chief responsibility officer" are becoming more and more important, driving both the need for employees as well as demand for students to engage in both the for-profit and not-for-profit social good space.

Given this fast-evolving sector and student interest in social change more broadly, we anticipate that Year 1 enrollment in the certificate program will be 15 students, and we have set the minimum number of students required to make the certificate viable at 10. In the first three years of the certificate, we expect that demand for the certificate largely will derive from existing students, particularly those already engaged in the Global Studies and Human Rights programs. In 2020, there were 135 Global Studies majors and approximately 100 human rights minors. These students, as well as students in political science (359 majors in 2020), environmental studies (31 majors in 2020), management (491 majors in 2020) and a host of other fields will also be attracted to this certificate. Table 2 illustrates our projected enrollment:

|             | Year 1 | Year 2 | Year 3 | Year 4 | Year 5 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|-------------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
| Anticipated | 15     | 18     | 25     | 35     | 40     |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Enrollment  |        |        |        |        |        |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |

Table 2. Anticipated Enrollment

We will utilize pre-existing courses for the majority of the course credits in the certificate program. We selected these courses because of their substantive focus and strong enrollment histories. The enrollment numbers demonstrate demand for the certificate. The courses will run regularly.

In addition to the course offerings, we see evidence for demand for this program from several stakeholders. For example, UNL's Office of Career Services noted that UNL Career Coaches across campus, including coaches from the College of Education and Human Sciences, the College of Business, the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and the College of Journalism and Mass Communication, as well as Career Coaches in UNL's Explore Center, have students coming to their offices with an expressed interest in careers social entrepreneurship.

Students across campus also regularly report to their faculty members that they are interested in pursuing this type of career, which is consistent with Gen Z students' values more broadly. Similarly, employers, both locally and globally, as well economic organizations like the World Economic Forum are heralding the importance of social entrepreneurship for the future of the global economy.

E. Avoidance of Unnecessary Duplication

The Social Entrepreneurship Certificate fills important gap in the UNL curriculum and in the offerings of other institutions of higher education in the state of Nebraska. While the College of Arts of Sciences offers a program of study in Global Study and a minor in Human Rights, both of which contribute to this certificate, neither program is solely focused on social entrepreneurship. Similarly, the College of Business offers a minor in entrepreneurship, broadly defined. The focus of that program is not social impact, however. UNL also offers a Civic Engagement Certificate, which builds student's skills in civic participation. The proposed certificate in social entrepreneurship differs from the Civic Engagement Certificate in two key ways. First, it offers a comprehensive curriculum and requires 17-19 credits as opposed to 12. Whereas the Civic Engagement Certificate accepts all ACE 8 and 9 courses, the proposed certificate's curriculum is more curated, as it focuses specifically on the social good sector and combines both in-class learning with transferable skill-building. Second, while there is some overlap between civic engagement and social entrepreneurship, they represent two discrete industries and job opportunities. While we expect that some students will be interested in both certificates, they draw on different skill sets and focus areas.

Beyond the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska-Omaha offers an Entrepreneurship Concentration for business majors and a minor in entrepreneurship for non-business majors. Compared to the proposed Social Entrepreneurship Certificate, Omaha's Entrepreneurship Concentration offers primarily business or accounting courses, with less emphasis on human rights, environmental sustainability or community diversity. The minor in entrepreneurship meanwhile, consists mainly of management-focused courses, with several classes delving into specific topics such as gender and entrepreneurship, development innovations. While some of these courses reflect address similar content with courses in the proposed certificate, there is significantly less variety, particularly across colleges. Moreover, this program of study is only offered as a minor, not as a certificate program. The University of Nebraska-Omaha's College of Public Affairs and Community Service also offers a Nonprofit Management minor for undergraduate students interested in working in the nonprofit sector. At 18 total in-person credit hours, this minor consists of courses aimed at improving students' ability to lead nonprofit organizations, focusing on a management/business approach. This curriculum focuses less on broader human rights, environmental or community issues impacting the nonprofit sector. The program also offers more limited options for students than the proposed certificate.

The proposed Social Entrepreneurship certificate builds on the strengths of these existing programs to offer something unique and will help students position themselves to work at this intersection between the public good and entrepreneurship.

F. Adequacy of Resources:

1. Faculty/Staff:

Because the certificate curates existing UNL curriculum, current faculty and staff will support the certificate program as part of their existing work. Future curricular development is anticipated with strong enrollment growth. Part-time adjuncts will cover any needed additional sections of GLST 415 and HRHA 495, funded by Foundation funds. If such funds are unavailable, the College of Arts and Sciences will support the program with temporary instruction funds. Based on enrollment growth, we plan to hire a long-term Lecturer or Assistant Professor of Practice position (described above). Estimated salary for Assistant Professor of Practice ($62,000-65,000).

- 2. Library/Information Resources There are adequate library resources to support the program.
- 3. Physical Facilities and Equipment This program will not require any additional facilities or equipment.
- Instructional Equipment and Informational Resources
   This program will not require any additional equipment or informational resources beyond existing resources, e.g. Canvas.
- 5. Course and Lab Fees

Only a very few classes included in the theme areas have associated course and/or lab fees. Those fees are listed in the table of courses above.

<sup>1</sup> The first three years of the certificate will require at least 2 courses taught by temporary lecturers that will not incur benefits and will be funded by private foundation support. Based on strong enrollment growth, in years 4-5, the intent is to hire an Asst POP or long-term lecturer. Costs include benefits in years 4-5.

<sup>1</sup> Three required classes GIST 211, GLST 415 and HRHA 495 at 3 credit hours each are anticipated to have at least 15 new students enroll due to this certificate program. We project that enrollment to grow to 40 students by year 5. See enrollment projection table below. New tuition generated from these new enrollments is conservatively estimated using FY23/24 tuition rates for Resident students ($268/credit hour).
